AT OUTS ON TASKS FOR EXTRA SESSION

Democratic Prohibition, Military Compulsion and Suffrage Advocates Cause Discord.

GET PRESIDENT'S PROGRAM

Leaders Told by Senator James What Legislation Administration Desires.

Trouble has developed in conne tion with the efforts of Democratic leaders to reach an understanding as to the measures to be considered at the extra session of Congress, which President, Wilson has summoned to meet April 16.

In view of the uncertainties of the German situation and his inability to tell in advance whether any war measures are going to be needed, the President did not specify the particular objects for which he wanted the session assembled. Informally, however, he has indicated to the Democratic leaders what he thinks should comprise the legislative pro-

Through Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, who is regarded as the President's mouthpiece on the "steering committee" of the Senate, Mr. Wilson is understood to have approved certain lines of legislative activity.

What President Desires. The following is the Administra tion program:

The appropriation bills which failed of passage in the closing hours of the short session. Those bills are the army appropriation bill, the sundry civil appropriation bill, and the urgent deficiency bill. The armed neutrality bill, which was killed by fillbuster.

The numerous anti-spy bills urged by the Department of Justice as means of combating German intrigues to be on foot.

Webb bill, permitting American exporters to maintain co-opera tive foreign selling agencies abroad.

The bill to increase the size of the Interstate Commerce Commission;

Ratification by the Senate of the Co-

Prohibitionists Displeased. While this is the program that is agreeable to a majority of the leaders, it has failed to win the indorsement of the prohibition leaders, the advocates of universal military training, or the spensors of the proposed woman suffrage amendment, each of which groups

In view of the strong possibility of war with Germany, it is probable that many of the leaders would be willing to include universal training in the program but for the certainty that the proponents of woman suffrage and nation-wide prohibition would then be more than ever insistent that they be given recognition.

Under the tentative program the extra session, if war did not develop in the meantime, could be brought to a close, the Democratic leaders say, by July 1. Should there be war, however, it is realized all agreements that might now be made would be called off. Congress would then probably insist on remaining in session, and it is assumed that the President and the country would want it in session to pass needed

Armed Neutrality Indorsement.

The President's prime object in calling the extra session was, of course, to insure the passage of the three approernment would be extremely embarrassed the beginning of the new fiscal regards the armed neutrality legislation, any action which Con-gress might now take would be in the nature of an indorsement of steps now being taken by the President to arm American merchant ships. In his announcement Saturday the President made it plain that he no longer regarded this legislation as necessary. having convinced himself that he al-ready had all the authority he needed to arm the ships. At the same time it is thought probable he would be glad to have Congressional indorse-ment of his action.

The fact that the program only actudes that part of the Ad-aninistration's railroad legislation ministration's which provides for an increase in the Interstate Commerce Commission would indicate an abandonment by the President of his original proposal to prohibit strikes by law.

Germany and Colombia.

Disclosures which have been made regarding the German plot to destroy the Panama canal in the event of war between the United States and Germany have served to emphasize the earnestness of President Wilson's recent appeal in behalf of the Colombian treaty.
On that occasion he observed significantly that at the present time, of all times, the United States needs the friendship of Colombia and other Latin-American countries. In other words, the Administration apparently believes that unless Colombia is at last paid the $25,000,000 and the "apology" she has demanded as a balm for the wounded feelings she suffered in the Panama coup, she may further German schemes to blow up the canal.

The "spy bills"-eighteen in num ber-fell by the wayside along with the mass of other bils that piled up day by day? Here's a corn cure that really cures. Your corns vanish like magic—no cutting, no pads—but a in the legislative chute in the closing wonderful plaster, easily applied—gives instant relief and is absolutely guaranteed to "do away" with the hardest, stubborn corn. Buy "Comfort Corn Plasters" today—25 cents a box—money back if it doesn't do the work. hours of the last session. Without their enactment, the Department of Justice insists, it is without power to cope with the German plots.

AVIATORS TO MAP U. S. AERO ROUTES

Government Flying Head at Hempstead Plains, L. I., Backs Project.

Mine F. De Moss, Norfolk, LANDING PLACES NEEDED RELATES PATHETIC STORY

Capt. J. E. Carberry at Work Describes Conditions in Isolated in Behalf of Army and Civilian Fliers.

Plans by which the United States vill be surveyed to establish airplan routes and landing stations, both fo military and civilian aviators, are be ing worked out at the Government fly-ing school in Hempstead Plains, L. I.

These plans have already progress so far that the officers of the schoo and a committee of the reas: a service squadron have begun to arrange for suitable landing stations at various distances, even as far away as Phila-delphia, and to mark these stations in such a way that they will be easily distinguishable from the air.

The scheme as projected by Capt.

Joseph E. Carberry, commandant of the school, is expected to enlist not only the aid of al aero clubs and the War Department, but the Coast and Geodetic and the Geological Surveys

Captain Carberry and the fliers of the school have carried on a number of experiments, and as a result with in a short time the big field at Mine-ola is to be marked withen big star of canvas, the points of which will be twenty-five feet in diameter. Other fields at Oyster Bay, Port Washing fields at Oyster Bay, Port Washing ton, and other points will be simimarked.

In addition, a symbol will be at tached to each marker which will de note the character of the field of land ing, its proximity to repair stations and even to hospitals. By this mean

It has been found that the tent ban are visible eighteen miles away at a neight of 6,000 feet.

In addition to charting the coun ryside, the reserve fliers of the Hempstead Plains school are planning a course of work under condi-tions closely simulating actual warfare. Maps of the countryside are being made from airplanes, and more 200 topographic photographs have been filed away this year. These photographic maps have a great advantage over the ordinary scale maps in that they show detailed conditions of the terrain below and the exact location of even the smallest buildings and landmarks.

"Shoot" With Camera. The camera is to take another im portant part in training the civilian aviators. It is to be used in target practice. With a camera m

Don't Make a Ready-made Mistake

Lots of men delude themselves with the idea that they can rush into a clothing store, "swipe" a suit off a pile, jump into it, and have a suit that fits and looks well. They're taking a gamble on an impossibility.

Only when your clothes are made to your own measure can they really fit you and give your personality a chance. We'll make for you at-

LITTLE MISSIONARY TELLS OF HER WORK

School Girl, Who Looks Most Like a Debutante, Moves Cathedral School Youngsters.

Hollows of Blue Ridge Mountains.

She was not a debutante.

But the boys at National Cathedral chool thought so this morning when they caught their first glimpse of a dainty, little, darked-eyed girl from Virginia, scarcely out of her 'teens, who, they had been told, was to make speech for their especial benefit.

She did make a speech. But it was so different from the kind of speech they had expected. And when she got through, the eyes of many of the boys were moist, and so were those of some of the faculty present. For instead of talking about dances and teas, and all manner of frivolous things, which her dancing eyes said so plainly she could' talk about, the oung visitor talked about mis

Missionary, Not a Debutante. Yes, missions. For she was a mis she was different from any other missionary the boys had ever seen. and she was so enthusiastic about her work and so earnest in what she had to say, that they listened eagerly, with open mouths

She told them of thousands of poor children living in ignorance in isolated hollows of the Ragged and Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, and of the work her organization has done and hopes to do for their education and uplift. And she asked the boys at the school to help these unfortu-nate children by contributing toward the funds for carrying on the misthe funds for carrying on the mis donary work.

Her name is Susan Preston, She has lived much among the mountain felk during the last three years, whited at their little cabins, taught the chil-dren, and listened to the legends told by the gray-haired moonshiners, who talk but little to the "stranger."

Private Secretary To Chief. She is private secretary to Archdeacon Frederick W. Neve, in charge has been such an energetic and suc cessful worker among the poor, and knows the mountain life so well, that she is sent on trips at intervals to tell people out in the big outside world of the mountain work and to ask them to contribute the much-needed funds.

Of the forty or more mission sta tions under Archdescon Neve, Miss Preston has chosen one for her very own, and it is her ambition to have the "young people" contribute sufficient funds to support this mission.

It is known as Pocoson Mission, and is away back up in what is known as Pocoson Hollow.

In Washington Before.

She has been to Washington before, having talked here before the girls at Gunston Hall, Bristol School, Nath they were disabled thouse Cathedral School, and other The rest of the men institutions, and each institution has contributed toward the little missionary's cause.

Another problem will be to es-tablish a cordon of planes over the island, while a single motor truck. York, where she addressed accres of representing the head of a hostile organizations, regarding the moun-tain mission work. She was in Phil-adelphia last week, and made scores of enthusiastic friends for the Vir ginia mountaineera.

Tomorrow morning Miss Preston is to address the girls at the Misses Eastman's School, 1305 Seventeenth street, and tomorrow afternoon she will talk to the Junior Auxiliary of St. Margaret's Episcopal Church.
